

BEST STEREO INTEGRATED AMPLIFIER

Naim Nait XS 3

RETAINING THE CHIC, minimalist chassis of its predecessors, this third-generation integrated amplifier introduces an updated, discrete Class AB circuit design and adds a moving-magnet phono stage. Power output is rated at 2x70W into 8ohm with enough grunt in reserve for the XS 3 to grapple with any likely partnering loudspeaker.

It ticks all the right 'hi-fi' boxes with a well-defined, highly detailed and carefully ordered sound, but more than this, the new Nait really sings and transports the listener deep into the musical event. With a rhythmic dexterity and real punch at high volumes, this amplifier looks set to be the life and soul of any party.
