

A MAGAZINE BY CITY A.M.

LIVING

ISSUE 12 | APRIL 2017

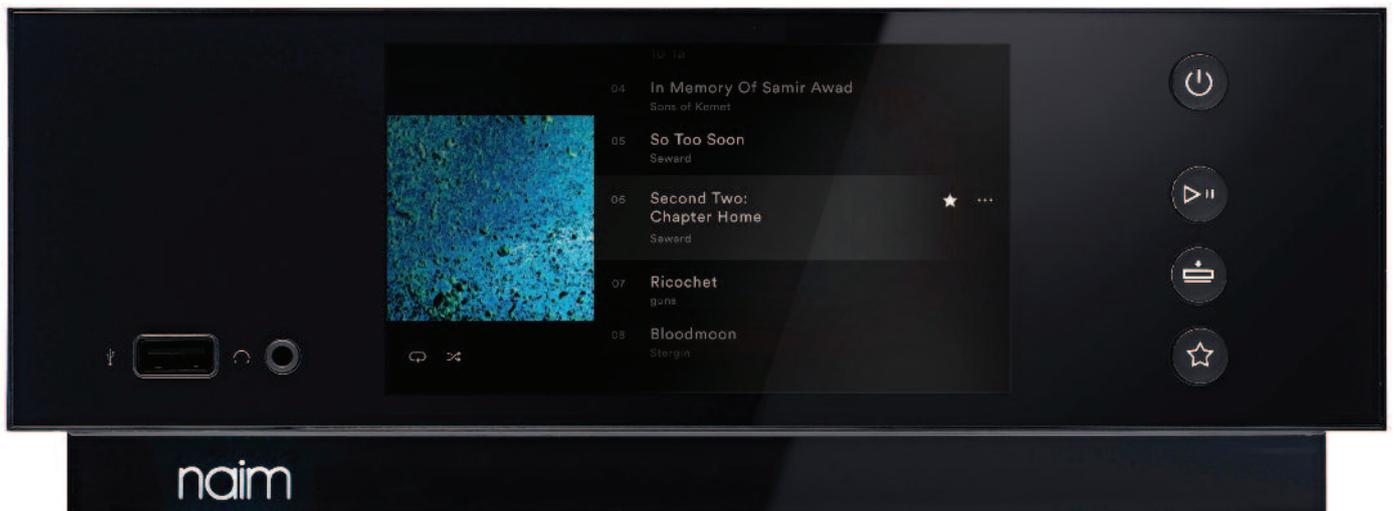

INSIDE: THE UNLIKELY
RESURGENCE OF WEDGWOOD
THE DEVELOPERS WHO ARE BUILDING NEW ARTS VENUES
THE LATEST AUDIO SOLUTIONS
THE FABULOUS HIDDEN ENTRYWAYS OF MILAN

Modern life is great

Why we can't get enough of warehouse living

PLUS: IN SEARCH OF THE HOUSING STYLE THAT DEFINES THE REIGN OF QUEEN ELIZABETH II
ECOWORLD BALLYMORE TALK: DESIGNING CANARY WHARF'S BOTANICALLY-INSPIRED PENTHOUSES

NAIM UNITI ATOM
£1,750, NAIMAUDIO.COM

This fancy box from audio masters Naim is designed to pull music from your disparate devices, including your smartphone, desktop PC and laptop. Connecting over wi-fi, it allows you to stream high-definition tunes (where available) from sources including Spotify Connect, Tidal, Apple AirPlay, Google Cast for Audio and thousands of internet radio stations.

It also has an 8TB memory, so you can rip your entire CD collection onto it, even displaying the album artwork from your favourite records, making it an attractive addition to your living room. Now all you need is a high-end speaker system and you're good to go.

GOOGLE HOME
£129, STORE.GOOGLE.COM

The thin-end of the robo-assistant wedge, Google's hands-free smart speaker responds to natural voice commands, playing music and controlling devices around the house. You can personalise yours with vinyl wraps.

ULTRASONE EDITION 10
£1,679, SELFRIDGES.COM

This is not a pair of headphones you take on the daily commute. These are strictly for jacking into your ludicrously expensive media player while you relax in a leather recliner in front of a roaring fire.